

Development setup on Linux host

Application code is volume mapped into container via compose not copied via docker file

Development setup on OSX host

Application code is volume mapped into container via compose

not copied via docker file

Docker runs inside a linux VM hypervisor

so volume mapping slow

